WOOLF HEADS LIONS

FORMER RAYMOND TEACHER HEADS PROVO CLUB

(By F. Howard Forsythe)
Provo, Utah, June 15.—That the lion is king of the beasts may be just another line out of a book of animal stories, but when a Woolf is made president of the Lions, that's news.

Dr. Wilford Woolf, former prominent Cardston physician, was elected to preside over the Lion's Club here last week. He succeeds A. C. Hatch, mortician, and won the honor over Victor I. Bird, bank cashier.

Not at all content with shattering tradition in the animal kingdom, Dr. Woolf treads on other hallowed ground. This event is said to be the first time that a Doctor has followed an undertaker. Not only that, but the Victor in the case was not the victor at all, but the defeated.

Dr. Woolf left Cadston a few years ago and has been practicing in Provo. He is now connected with the Aird Hospital and has won local acclaim for his surgery and medical work.

NEWS NOTES

The interior of King Motors Garage and parts room is spick and span in a new coat of red and green, the Texaco colors.

Monday was cold and cloudy all day, but Tuesday was bright and warm, and following the rain, vegetation fairly shot upwards.

Radishes and lettuce are common on menu now, and early spuds and peas will be on before very long. We'd like to hear when they are.

The heavy rain last Sunday made the roads cast of town very nasty, and a car or two came nearly getting piled into the ditch from skidding.

We know we miss a lot of the news. You could help a great deal if you would though and it wouldn't put you out much either.

Ira McBride says they have certainly had an abundance of rain across the States they traversed in their journey, and crop and gardens are looking very promising.

Mrs. Kate Whetten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Allred is here for a visit with her family. Her husband is teaching in Chicago. She brought word that L. C. Allred was in a very poor condition, following his operation.

Louis Brandley returned home Tuesday evening from his trip to Chicago, driving a new Ford Sedan back which he purchased in Detroit at the Ford Factory.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roberts and family left Saturday morning on a motor trip to Utah to visit relatives. Their daughter, Ione, who has spent the past three or four months in Utah will return home with them.

W. H. Spackman and Son Low of Stirling and H. Dean Rolfsen, who returned last week from a year at the B.Y.U. in Provo, were the speakers at the Raymond First Ward Sunday evening. A quartette from Stirling and local musical numbers made a very interesting program.

News From The Local
Social Credit GroupHARDIEVILLE TROUNCES
LOCAL NINE

Playing bang up ball for five innings with out a score on either side, the local Baseballers blew up and the visitors started rounding home base, like sheep rounding the corner at night. We asked one bystander what the score was, and he said he lost track after Hardieville had made 16.

It was a disagreeable day with a wind howling across the diamond that made a fur coat feel more in style than a sweater and it was a good game for the kind of weather it was played in, despite the unequal score.

Go to it fellows, the team that start in the cellar frequently come out on top, and our chances are as good as anyone else's. Let's pep up and win these next games.

WEATHER AND CROPS

Crops of all kinds are doing well at this writing. After a couple of weeks of rather dry weather, a heavy shower fell over the town and immediate district Sunday, falling very heavily for about an hour or so in the early afternoon of Sunday, with high showers since and a drizzly rain all day Thursday.

Beets are getting on toward being thinned, and there is quite a demand for labor in thinning, as rapid growth makes it imperative that they be thinned out immediately. Grain fields look very promising, and flooding has covered the ground with a heavy green carpet. Hay is looking well and machinery is being overhauled and put in shape for the first cutting of alfalfa which will take place now before many days.

Gardens are doing nicely, but weeds are coming on very thick and very thick, and are making a lot of work for nearly all gardeners. Bedding plants have been nearly all set out this week.

A STRONG MOTIVE IN
"STAR OF MIDNIGHT"

He has to find the real criminal, or face a charge of murder himself.

In that situation, William Powell rises to the greatest crime solving heights of his screen career in "Star of Midnight," RKO-Radio's thrilling new mystery romance based on the popular story by the late Arthur Somers Roche.

In his investigation, Powell is aided by Ginger Rogers, as beautiful an amateur sleuth as ever failed to fool anyone with a disguise.

The debonair Powell and the delectable Miss Rogers are teamed for the first time in "Star of Midnight." Powell is seen as a brilliant attorney. Miss Rogers plays a young society beauty who knows a thing or two about getting her man.

Romance and subtle comedy vie with mystery and thrills in the clever modern drama with a background of New York society, stage life and strata of the underworld.

Stephen Roberts directed, and the supporting cast includes such prominent players as Paul Kelly, Ralph Morgan, Leslie Fenton, Gene Lockhart, Vivian Oakland, Russell Hopton and J. Farrell McDonald. The screen play is based on a recent Redbook magazine story by Arthur Somers Roche.

Enthusiasm for Social Credit is undoubtedly growing in Raymond.

John H. Blackmore in the local meeting Monday night dealt smashing blows to all opposition.

Some folks think we are in a depression. They are wrong. We have just returned to normal. We must learn to live under these conditions. The speaker cited H. Ford's declaration in 1932, the increase in the cost of relief in Canadian towns and cities everywhere, the staggering increase in the cost of unemployment in Britain (twenty one millions for 1935) and in the U.S. He then read the report of the Wrentham speech of J. J. Trang, Pool Director, April 5th, 1935 Mr. Trang said a normal world crop in 1935 would create a situation unparalleled. The wheat of this province would not be accepted by the elevators—because it would be unmarketable.

Those opposing immediate reform have allowed themselves to be blinded to the true facts of the situation.

Turning to Douglas' visit he referred to the Major's remarks in Winnipeg that "if people desire Social Credit they should ask and see that they get it." In Massey Hall, Toronto, the Major told the people "You can not borrow yourselves out of debt." He urged upon Premier and the need of Social Credit for Alberta. What more could Major Douglas possibly say?

The speaker then read clippings of Stevens' statements from the Lethbridge Herald.

(1) "Canada is now facing Fascism controlled by wealthy men" Toronto May 11th.

(2) "Stevens is convinced there never will be a return of Good Times" under the present system."—Ottawa, May 17th.

He then went on to read the editorial comment from The Western Producer, Saskatchewan upon the fine result of Major Douglas' visit. One paragraph is as follows:

"It is now up to Albertans. They are confronted with an admittedly revolutionary policy. But it is only the adoption of some such policy which will ever free Alberta and other provinces from the death grip of an external financial hegemony. Are Albertans ready to elect a legislature courageous enough to take such a bold step and to face all the misrepresentation, obloquy, ridicule and concerted venom which the taking of such a step will undoubtedly loose upon them. We can only wait and see." June 13th issue.

NEWS NOTES

Bishop Walker and party returned home Monday night from their trip to Utah. The Bishop said going down when the Mahan man hunt was in full swing they passed hundreds of police men and soldiers, in all types of conveyances scouring the countryside.

China ware at the Capitol ended Monday night, when a large Dinner plate was given out to the ladies. This has made a beautiful set of Dinnerware, and is highly prized by the ladies of Raymond. WHAT ABOUT A SWIMMING POOL

At the present time there is considerable agitation on foot for a swimming pool where young and old may enjoy this pleasant and healthful pastime during the summer months. What is your idea concerning it? How much is it worth to you to have a place to go, or more particularly for your boy or girl to go, where they can enjoy an hour or two of good exercise, and in a good environment?

At present the situation is about as follows. The Rotary Club have cherished the idea of seeing a Community Swimming Pool erected that would be a credit to the town for a year or more. But the Rotary can only act as an organizing center in the enterprise; the money must come from everyone in the town. The Council has been approached, and is willing to go as far as they feel they can in purchasing the cement and tile for the venture, but they are unable to stand the full cost, and so assistance must be sought from other sources. Where will the "kale" come from?

Is it worth $5 to you to have such a place for yours and your neighbors boys and girls to put in an hour or two. In a recent convention one of the speakers made this statement. "The greatest tragedy of life today is the dry rot of youth in the desert of idleness." Is it not worth serious thought and sacrifice to provide wholesome and healthy pastimes for our boys and girls, so they may enjoy themselves in body building and moral building pastimes.

Without moralizing too much. If our boys and girls turn out to be pool hall bums, and street walkers, it is after all very largely our fault. It is useless to tell them not to do these things, unless we can point out something better for them to do. Youth demands recreation, and if the good is not provided for them, then they will do that which is not right.

The issue seems to be squarely up to the boys and girls and the parents who are equally and vitally concerned. Individually we can do little, if anything, united we can accomplish anything to which we apply ourselves in unison. It will take more than wishing to put this project over. It will take money and work. The Council will help the organizations in the town will help, but it will take the co-operation of the entire populace to make such a venture the success we would all like to see made of it.

If you want a Swimming Pool, let the Council, or some Rotarian know your wants, and what you are willing to do to get the project completed, and completed in a manner that will be satisfactory to all. The columns of this paper are open to any who have worthwhile suggestions on this matter in the way of financing, organization, etc. Let's hear from you.

A.M.A. ISSUES 100,000 NEW HIGHWAY MAPS

During this season, the touring bureaus operated at branches on the Alberta Motor Association in Edmonton, Calgary, and Lethbridge are expecting heavy demands for service.

At these offices, where courtesy is one of the by-words, every consideration is given to the requests of motorists desiring information. Experts who have made a careful study of routes are able to pick out the most convenient ones, so that motorists may travel one way and return by another, never once covering the same ground unless there is a desire to see some sections twice during the trip.

From time to time, the motorists receive letters of commendation for their routing services.

Mileage, garages, hotels, all forming the official appointments of the A.M.A., are shown on these maps. For those seeking good hunting or fishing spots, the maps contain valuable information.

The maps are of particular value to visitors, of whom greatly increased numbers are expected to visit Albert, Parks and other beauty spots during the coming season. In view of the campaign inaugurated by the Canadian Travel Bureau to attract a greater number of

The depressed price of farm products is a problem with which everyone is familiar, but on the 1913 basis farm product prices have never been as low as gasoline. Between 1913 and 1920 gasoline did not rise in price to nearly the same extent as farm products, yet since 1920 its price has almost continuously declined. The data for the above graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A DYING WAGE

WHEN we started business in 1880 our first rule was to pay a fair living wage.

In 1919 we decided a living wage was not enough. We should pay a dying wage, too. We knew how hard it is for the worker to make provision for his old age and for his dependents in the event of his death.

So we introduced benefits and pensions plans. Sickness benefits—the incapacitated employee to continue drawing pay according to his term of service; pensions—a fair living allowance for the worker who reaches old age; death benefits—a cheque immediately for the deceased worker's family. These things lifted a burden of care from our employees' shoulders—made them happier, more enterprising and more efficient. They lifted a burden from the shoulders of the Canadian taxpayer, too.

We are proud of these plans which have helped so much to build up a loyal organization of thousands of Canadian workers. Their devotion to their work has made it possible for us to serve Canada with quality products at lower and lower prices.

EXPERIMENTAL STATION, LETHBRIDGE

WEEKLY LETTER

A FEW REMARKS ON GARDEN INSECTS AND THEIR CONTROL

This weekly letter on garden insects has been contributed by M. Geo. F. Manson, Assistant Entomologist at the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Lethbridge. Mr. Manson, who is in charge of garden insect investigations in Alberta, has provided information in this letter which should be of interest and value to all readers.

Weather conditions like those of the present season, which delay plant development, also retard development of insects. The grower should not be misled, however, by the absence of these pests in the early spring, and should constantly be on the watch for the first signs of attack.

A good deal of insect trouble can be avoided by the use of good cultural practices. Refuse from the garden should be buried in the fall, as it may harbor insect eggs or provide protection for those insects which live over the winter. If possible, the garden should be moved each year and the old plot summer-fallowed in preparation for the next season. In starting the garden off in the spring, anything which will make for vigorous plant growth will also aid the plants to resist insect attacks.

For purposes of control, insects are divided into two classes based on their method of feeding. One group, for example, the potato beetle, actually chews the leaves, while the other group, well illustrated by the plant lice or aphids, suck only the plant juices. For those insects that eat the leaves, poison applied to the leaf surface will be taken into the body when feeding, while such poison is no deterrent to the sucking insect, and any control of these must be directed to the insect itself.

For the leaf-eating insects any of the arsenicals such as Paris Green or arsenate of lime may be used. They may be applied either as a spray or dust, usually with good results. As a spray they should be used as follows: Paris Green 2 teaspoonfuls and water 1 gallon, or arsenate of lime 3 teaspoonfuls and water 1 gallon. When using these sprays they should be kept well stirred as the poison may settle out. The addition of one ounce of soap to each gallon of spray improves the spreading qualities and reduces the settling of the arsenic.

If these are to be applied as dusts, they should be used at the following rates: Paris green 1 part and hydrated lime or cheap flour 15 parts, or arsenate of lime 1 part and lime or flour 10 parts. The dusts may be mixed by partly filling a can with the materials and shaking well. A few small stones in the dust aids the mixing. If a mechanical duster is available, it may be applied by placing it in a loose gunnysack and shaking over the plants. Two rows may be treated at once by putting a sack at each end of a stick and walking between the rows shaking the stick as needed. In dusting it is only necessary to cover the leaf surface lightly, but the material should reach as much of the plant as possible. Best results with dusting are obtained when the weather is calm.

Sucking insects may be controlled by spraying with nicotine sulphate as follows: nicotine sulphate 2 teaspoonfuls and soapy water 1 gallon. The soap and water should be mixed to make a good suds and the nicotine sulphate added. When applying this spray it is advisable to direct it onto the lower surface of the leaves. A small fly spray is very useful for this in the small garden.

When there is some doubt as to which group of insects is doing the damage or when both are present, the two sprays may be combined thus: Paris green 2 teaspoonfuls, nicotine sulphate 2 teaspoonfuls, and soapy water 1 gallon.

When leafy vegetables are to be used shortly after treating, it is advisable to use Pyrethrum 1 ounce, water 1 gallon. As a dust it may be used thus: Pyrethrum 1 part, cheap flour 4 parts (by weight); or pure Pyrethrum.

In using Pyrethrum it is essential to have only fresh stock and it should always be kept in an air-tight container.

All insecticides are more or less poisonous and should be handled with the greatest care.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Don't imagine that we, in this modern age, have outlived the old maxim about woman's hair being her crowning glory. For, no matter if it is bobbed or long, hair which is glossy and luxuriantly thick will always lend glamour to a woman's appearance.

If you have grey hair and it is making you unhappy and if you cannot bring yourself to have it retouched, take comfort from a well known baroness in Paris who is known as one of the most chic women of Europe. She has grey hair and utilizes its attractive silver tones for contrast with clever color schemes in her costumes. I always think a dash of red lipstick in a raspberry red tone adds life to a face with white hair.

In order to keep the hair in good condition, we must first realize that the scalp is no different than the skin on the face, and if the latter is dry the scalp will be dry too. Too rich or too impoverished a diet affects the hair noticeably.

Normal hair should be shampooed about once every ten days, but never with soap in its cake form. Buy a liquid shampoo on the market, or make one with soap shavings melted in hot water.

If you have very much dandruff, a good plan is to take an ordinary comb and free the dandruff by gently scratching the scalp. Then brush the hair thoroughly before washing.

For dry hair, the hot balsam oil shampoo is a necessity, especially should the oil be left on the night before washing. And for this type always dry hair with the hands and not with a drying machine. After the shampoo, apply a little herbal scalp food, rubbing it briskly into the skin. Every two weeks is often enough for dry, brittle hair to be washed.

The oily hair will need shampooing twice a week. Use a special hair tonic designed for this type of hair. This combined with repeated massaging with the finger tips and much brushing should shortly put the hair in condition. Never, however, brush the hair down, only upwards and outwards.

The oil shampoo once a month for every type of hair is a good rule to go by.

THE STATE

That a tremendous number of people have been forced to rely on the State for the means of living is a distressing fact of which we are all painfully aware. That a shockingly large number have become or are becoming confirmed in the habit of doing so is a depressing thought which Senator Meighen left with us in his speech at London, Ont. He impressed upon us that we cannot lift from the shoulders of any man the responsibility of making his way in life. Never must we pursue a policy that he might think a great parent is looking after him. There is a vast number who are beginning to think that work is over. They have found a way of living on other people. The future depends on the fact that man must work and earn equal to his capacity.

Yet the State can and should make its contribution toward satisfying that will to work; and the sooner and more adequately the State so contributes, the sooner we shall know who are the idlers and who the industrious.—Morning Albertan

Canadian Utilities put out three new Electric Refrigerators in Raymond on Wednesday. It doesn't sound much like depression, does it?

STOKING A STEAM ENGINE -- SAID WRIGLEY

Interviewed, and asked to what he attributed his phenomenal success, the late Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, replied, "To the consistent advertising of a good product."

"But," asked the reporter, "having captured practically the entire market, why continue to spend vast sums annually in advertising?"

Wrigley's reply was illuminating.

Once having raised steam in an engine, he stated, it requires continuous stoking to keep it up. Advertising stokes up business and keeps it running on a full head of steam.

This applies to YOUR business, too. Don't make a secret of your product. Tell people about it. Tell them what it does. Tell them its advantages. Tell them where to get it. Tell them through the Press and keep on telling them.

NEWS NOTES

Mrs. A. H. Zabriskie and party arrived home Sunday night from their holiday trip to Utah, during which time they attended the M.I.A. Convention in Salt Lake City.

Good progress is being made on the new homes of Lee Brewerton and Rudolph Tolles trup. A great deal of the studding is now up on the latter's home.

Workmen from Lethbridge were busy this week moving Lee Brewerton's home to the northwest corner of the lot. Lee is leaving this home intact and will either rent or sell it.

O. H. Snow is in Edmonton this week in connection with the gravelling of the road between here and the Sunshine Trail. We certainly wish him success as this piece of road certainly needs to be surfaced.

COOKERY HINTS

"Cookery hints" were stock in trade long before there were cookery books, women's magazines, newspaper food pages, or radio kitchen broadcasts. Women and men, too, where cooking was a man's job, passed on their little kitchen secrets, or guarded them carefully, according to dispositions and circumstances. The use of the word "hint" in this connection tells much about the history of development of cookery. Hint is used here in the sense of a suggestion or a reminder without full declaration. In the early days cooks learned from one another by seeking or passing on hints. Recipes giving a "full declaration" of ingredients, amounts and procedures, as we find them now, were practically unknown until comparatively recent years.

Today our cookery knowledge for the most part is circulated in the form of precisely stated, tested recipes. However, all cooks still seek "hints" and find them practical suggestions for new ways, and short cuts which make cooking easier and more interesting.

We all like to exchange cookery secrets, so here are some which may be new:

Do you know that Vegetable cocktail is made by combining chopped cabbage, celery, green pepper and seasoning in a thin gelatin mixture. Serve with a spicy cocktail sauce.

Pickles have a variety of uses other than to garnish sandwiches and salads. Add finely chopped pickle with a few drops of onion juice to mayonnaise to serve with fish or to moisten chopped meat for sandwich filling. Add chopped pickle to white sauce just before serving it on cauliflower. Chop mixed mustard and pickle and cream with butter; use between very thin slices of bread; toast and serve hot with tea. Add thin slices of pickle to potato, rice or macaroni salad.

Cereals are not only "extenders" for fish salads, but improve the flavor by cutting excessive oiliness. Try steamed rice with tuna and corn flakes with salmon in the proportion of one-third cereal to two-thirds fish. Combine as usual with other ingredients in your fish salad recipes.

Cold water put into a hot skillet will in time cause the vessel to buckle, due to uneven expansion of the metal.

A spoon of ice cream on a serving of corn flakes makes a wholesome, nourishing dessert especially good for the children's supper.

A bowl of corn flakes and berries with cream or whole milk is a refreshing and delicious luncheon or supper.

NEWS NOTES

While Sec. O. H. Snow was in Edmonton on business this week, Miss Edith Woolley was in charge at the Town Office.

Reed Kirkham had to make three trips to Calgary for visas and passports in order to get to his school in Chicago. There seemed to be different opinions in Calgary and at the line as to what was necessary and after he thought he was ready to go and got to Sweet Grass, the Immigration officials sent him back to Calgary.
